THE POPULARITY OF THE BEATLES

The Beatles are arguably one of the most popular bands of all time. They were a band from 1963 – 1970, a span of a short seven years, but their legacy is essentially timeless. They were and are still very much a world wide phenomenon. Even though, John, Paul, George and Ringo haven't played together in over forty years, they have practically broken all records in terms of charting positions and albums sold in music. The Beatles are the best selling artists of all time and lets take a look at their insanely popular legacy.
