celebrate

In Pulse marks the 21st Annual Design and Industry Student Design Exhibition at San Francisco State University. The rhythms of design reflects the ingenious, innovative, and interdisciplinary work produced by DAI students, this year as well as in the past two decades.

Celebrate with us the variety of exceptional work in various disciplines of design, including product design and development, visual communications, digital media, manufacturing, electronics and research and development.

dai mission statement

The Design and Industry Department offers a strong well-rounded, interdisciplinary education to a diverse population with an emphasis in Design and Technology, Visual Communication, Industrial Technology and Product Design and Development. Our program prepares students to make valuable contributions to their fields through communication, innovation, function, management and production. We strive for a global approach towards design that includes social, ethical and environmental responsibility.
